Sheryl is a Litigation Executive in the Clinical Negligence team. She has more than 20 years litigation experience, including 11 years at leading London healthcare law solicitors, Hempsons, where she defended a variety of physicians, surgeons, GPs and numerous NHS Trusts.

As a result, Sheryl has a sound understanding not only of the thinking and tactics of Defendant NHS Trusts, the Medical Defence Union and the National Health Service Litigation Authority in clinical negligence claims but also of the difference from the Defendant's perspective between well prepared (and therefore compelling) and poorly prepared (and therefore unconvincing) clinical negligence claims.

Sheryl has experience of a wide range of clinical specialities including obstetrics and gynaecology, neurology, radiology, gastrointestinal surgery, plastic and reconstructive surgery, maxillo facial surgery, orthopaedics, intensive care, oncology and endocrinology and of claims involving multiple defendants.

Sheryl is a member of the Association of Personal Injury Lawyers and is committed to ensuring that any claim advanced on behalf of any client that she represents is thoroughly investigated, properly prepared and efficiently progressed to a satisfactory conclusion.

Sheryl is married with two Jack Russell terriers and a cat and enjoys walking (the dogs), golf, food and drink.
