Sue is a Senior Associate Associate in the Private Client Department.

She joined the firm in 2001 after wide experience in the legal profession, both in local government at the start of her career and then teaching in further education and on undergraduate programmes at the University of Liverpool.

She went into private practice in 1985 specialising in a wide range of private client work with particular emphasis on probate and administration of estates.

Since joining Thomson Snell & Passmore she has continued to specialise in this work, dealing with the administration of a wide range of estates, and to a lesser degree, with the preparation of Wills and the management of Trusts. She also has considerable involvement in the management of matters where mental capacity issues arise, including applications to the Court of Protection.

Sue is also an Accredited Mediator.

She is married to a solicitor with 3 children and enjoys an active and varied life including many types of sport, involvement with Trinity Theatre and Arts Centre and as a Governor of her local primary school.
